FRESH TROOPS ARRIVE TO AID BESIEGED JAPS

Chinese Horde About 1,000,000 Strong Streams North

Shanghai, April 19—(AP)—As a prelude to a new offensive in south Shantung where they have met with severe reverses, 6,000 Japanese reinforcements have arrived on the Yi river, four miles from Lini.

Lini, 80 miles northeast of Su-chow, rapidly was becoming the center of a battle which military experts said might develop into a major engagement of the nine-months old undeclared war.

Another Japanese column was reported sweeping to the southeast of Lini.

Chinese sources said five fresh Japanese divisions had arrived in Shantung from Japan and Formosa. On their part, Chinese commanders declared they were ready to pour 1,000,000 soldiers into the battle.

Better led and equipped than at any time since the conflict started, they were preparing to follow up recent successes, with Shantung province and a great slice of central China as the stake.

Guerrilla Attacks
Meanwhile slashing guerrilla attacks continued upon Japanese garrisons on a dozen fronts.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's commanders reported the recapture of a 20-mile stretch of the Grand Canal between Hangchow and Talerhchwang, scene of the first major defeat administered to a modern Japanese army. Hangchow, point of the southernmost advance of the Japanese, was retaken.

A new influx of refugees into Shanghai brought reports of the burning of 500 villages in the nearby countryside as Japanese applied their own "scorched earth" policy to drive out guerrillas.

Japanese reported bombing 70 junks and a landing party of 1,700 Chinese on the Yangtze, almost opposite Nanking, captured December 12.

Vessel Cause Of Dispute Moves To Different Port

San Francisco, April 19—(AP)—The Shepard line freighter Sea Thrush, cause of a fist and club wielding jurisdictional dispute yesterday between C. I. O. longshoremen and the unaffiliated sailors union of the Pacific, moved across San Francisco bay to Alameda today.

The vessel's departure was a surprise. Longshoremen had been ordered to go through a sailors' picket line again this morning. The vessel was to load cargo at Alameda and Oakland, sailing on Wednesday for San Pedro, Calif.

A thousand men were involved in yesterday's waterfront battle which 50 policemen ended after 10 minutes. More than 20 longshoremen and sailors were injured.

Delores Brooks Died Early This Morning

Delores Maxine Brooks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy K. Brooks, passed away at the home of her parents, 1503 Third street, this morning at 4 o'clock. She was born in Pine Creek township, Ogle county, Jan. 4, 1891 and is survived by her parents, one sister, Margaret and three brothers, Arnold, Robert and Gerald at home. Funeral services will be held at the home at 2 P. M. Thursday.

Thinking of '40

Washington, Apr. 19—(AP)—A special commission, remembering how thousands stood in the rain to hear President Roosevelt's second inaugural address, recommended to Congress today a $9,000,000 auditorium for the Capital.

The auditorium would seat 15,000 to 16,000 persons, and additional rooms would be provided so that the structure would accommodate 35,000 to 40,000 persons.

John Parks Given Fine Promotion

John T. Parks, who has been operator at the Bartlett-Frazier Grain company's office in Dixon for several years, has been promoted to the management of the company's office in Kankakee, and has taken up his position there. Mrs. Parks, who has been a gracious and efficient assistant at the Ford-Hopkins drug store here, will leave her position the last of this month to join her husband in his new location.

Both have been very active in Masonic and social circles of the city, and have countless friends who regret their leaving Dixon, but who wish them success, happiness and prosperity in their new home.

Palmer Acting Physician At Chest Clinic

Dr. George T. Palmer of Springfield will act as examining physician at the Bureau county chest clinic to be held in the dispensary in the basement of the court house at Princeton, Wednesday, April 27 from 8 a. m. to 3 p. m. Appointments should be made at least five days in advance if possible by patient or family physician. Ruth Olson is the directing nurse in charge.

One Vote Sticks

Benton, Ill., April 19—(AP)—Voters of Benton township don't change their minds often.

Two years ago, Ralph Newman defeated Holland Simmons for Democratic central committeeman by one vote. Opposing each other again in last week's election, Newman emerged winner by the same margin.

RECHECK ALIBIS OF SUSPECTS IN BRATTEN MURDER

Blonde Woman, Spouse Agree To Submit To Lie Detector Test

Marion, Ill., April 19—(AP)—The alibis of all persons questioned in the emasculation and slaying of Arno Bratten were being rechecked today, State's Attorney Otis Gallimore said, but evidence thus far uncovered corroborated them all.

Among those questioned were two women, Gallimore reported. These included the blond, 39-year old wife of a 59-year old Marion man. Authorities said the woman and her husband, questioned for three hours Saturday night, had agreed to submit to lie detector tests.

Frank Figueira, acting chief of the state bureau of criminal identification, was expected to return here tomorrow for further investigation of the mystifying killing of the former Marion high school principal, whose body was found in a creek near here on April 6, 52 days after he disappeared from his home.

Whether Figueira would bring a lie detector here for further questioning was uncertain. The blond married woman, Mayor Harry Crisp reported, admitted she had written letters to Bratten and that he had several photographs of her. These were found in a suitcase in the basement of the Bratten home.

Another clue considered important by investigators was Bratten's withdrawal of $350 from a Carbonade bank. Of this sum, $200 has not been accounted for. Absence of the money from his clothing indicated he had delivered it to someone or had been robbed. Along this line, authorities have been investigating a blackmail motive.

PACT-BREAKING NATIONS MIGHT BE IDENTIFIED

Washington, April 19—(AP)—State department officials said today Secretary Hull would designate Japan, Germany and Italy as treaty-violating nations if the administration should be requested by congressional resolution to name treaty-breaking powers.

Rep. Scott D. Calhoun introduced a resolution, now under consideration by the House foreign affairs committee, calling upon the President to say what nations, if any, have in recent years violated treaties to which this country is a party. His move, he said, was preliminary to advocating a boycott of the aggressor states.

Any state department reply mentioning Japan, Germany and Italy would not, however, be a new citation of the three allegedly aggressor nations, nor would it advocate any action against them.

Officials said it would refer simply to the fact that Secretary Hull had already mentioned Japan, Germany and Italy, directly or indirectly, as treaty violators.

In a strong statement October 6 Hull said that Japan, by invading China, had acted contrary to both the Kellogg-Briand peace pact and the nine-power treaty.

After Italy invaded Abyssinia President Roosevelt took cognizance of the fact by invoking an arms embargo against Italy and Ethiopia Oct. 5, 1935.

Hull has made various references to the aggressive nature of Germany's policy in Europe.

Garner Appoints Davis To Position On TVA Committee

Washington, April 19—(AP)—Vice President Garner appointed Senator Davis (R-Pa.) today as a member of the joint congressional committee to investigate the Tennessee Valley Authority.

If Davis accepts, the appointment will complete the personnel of the 10-member committee. The resolution provided for the investigation called for the appointment of five members from each chamber.

Garner has had difficulty naming the five Senate members because three Republicans—Capper of Kansas, Borah of Idaho and McNary of Oregon—have declined to serve.

Senator McNary (R-Ore), the minority leader, said he had received assurances by telephone from Senator Davis in Pittsburgh that he would serve.

Amnesia Sufferer Identified By Her Mate In Hospital

St. Louis, April 19—(AP)—A woman amnesia sufferer, who was taken to the city hospital last Thursday, was identified today as Mrs. Evelyn Mikrut, 52, by her husband, James Mikrut of Chicago. She had been missing from her home for several weeks.

Mrs. Mikrut, who has recovered sufficiently to be released from the hospital, recognized her husband but could not recall the circumstances of her coming to St. Louis April 10.

NEGRO WHO SLEW GYPSY, EXECUTED

Vowed He Would Never Die In Electric Chair At Jail

Chicago, April 19—(AP)—J. C. Scott, 22-year-old Negro who once boasted "they'll never get me in that chair—I'll get away or get shot," paid with his life early today for the murder of a gypsy woman in a $363 robbery December 18.

The burly 200-pound Negro struggled with five guards as they took him to the death chamber of the Cook county jail. When they placed a mask over his head, he pulled it off. It was put on again by guards and a minute later the Negro was strapped in the chair.

He was pronounced dead by physicians at 12:10 A. M.

Scott, who had been given a four-day reprieve by Gov. Horner because the original date of his execution fell on Good Friday, was the 36th man to be electrocuted in Cook county.

Murdered Gypsy
He was convicted of slaying Mrs. Mary Ely, 52, a gypsy, in the course of a robbery at her home. Her daughter, Catherine, also was beaten to death in the same robbery, but Scott was tried on only the one charge.

He fled to the home of his mother at Greer, S. C., where he was arrested two weeks later. He was tried, convicted and sentenced to death with 12 hours after his return to Chicago.

After his conviction Scott attempted a jail-break and boasted that he never would die in the chair. For that reason Warden Frank Sain placed a heavy detail of guards around the death chamber.

Society Bride Is Near Prostration; Husband Missing

New York, April 19—(AP)—The society bride of Andrew Carnegie Whitfield, was reported near prostration today as police and relatives pushed by land and sea a fruitless search for her missing husband.

While the search widened for the youthful business executive who disappeared mysteriously Friday during a routine solo flight in his private airplane, failure to discover any trace of the plane led puzzled police to conclude that Whitfield was still alive.

A brother active in the search, John N. Whitfield, said there had been no discussion between the 28-year-old Princeton graduate and his bride of less than a year.

A possibility faded that Whitfield might have sailed with Frank Steinman, another aviator, for Europe on the Red Star liner Westerland Saturday as an unlisted passenger. The captain of the liner wirelessly that a search had failed to disclose Whitfield aboard.

Berry Protests To Roosevelt On Waste In Relief

Washington, April 19—(AP)—Senator Berry (D-Tenn.) said today he had protested to President Roosevelt against "waste in WPA relief."

The Tennessee senator said he had discussed with the president this morning the latter's recovery-relief message to Congress and told Mr. Roosevelt "that wastes should be deleted from the WPA program."

"I told him there was a great deal of merit in the entire program," Berry said, "but that I was not going to vote blindly for relief unless wastes were eliminated."

"Relief money has been spent for political purposes," Berry added. "We have not remedied this situation although we have had several years experience."

League Denouncing AAA Plans Meeting April 27 Of West State Farmers

Approve Resolution Condemning Control of Crops

Macomb, Ill., April 19—(AP)—Farmers who organized the "Corn Belt Liberty League" and denounced the government's agricultural program at a boisterous meeting in the circuit courtroom last night mapped plans today for a meeting April 27 of western Illinois farmers.

The estimated 1,500 persons present were chiefly McDonough county residents, but Tilden Burg of Sciota, elected president of the organization, said the meeting next week would aim for membership from surrounding counties.

The courtroom, which can accommodate only 300 comfortably, was packed an hour before the meeting started and soon the corridors and courthouse yard became filled with overall-clad farmers, summoned by leading opponents of any plan to obtain compulsory crop control and corn acreage allotments.

Approve Resolutions
With only a part of the crowd close enough to the rostrum to vote, a resolution condemning any form of compulsory crop control was approved, 866 to 29.

Another resolution, passed unanimously by voice vote, said those present would "resist to the last any effort to force them under threat of prosecution to give over control of their land to other people."

A vote of 824 to 41 expressed dissatisfaction with the present corn allotments of the government.

G. J. James of Good Hope was elected secretary-treasurer of the organization, the chief backer of which was Burg.

Terse News

MEETING POSTPONED
Troop I the Freshman ntroop of Girl Scouts will not have a meeting Wednesday evening, due to the play being held at the church. The next meeting of this troop will be Wednesday, April 27.

RETURN FROM SOUTH
Mr. and Mrs. William Avery of May township have returned home after spending the winter months with relatives in southern Louisiana, and have taken up their summer residence on a farm in May township. They were in Dixon today visiting friends and transacting business.

ROAST PIG DINNER
The regular meeting of Dixon post, No. 12, American Legion will be held at the Legion headquarters Wednesday evening, April 20. A roast young pig dinner will be served at 6:30 under the direction of Dr. Raymond Worsley and his committee. Hon. John P. Devine, former speaker of the Illinois legislature will be the guest speaker during the evening.

SCHRADER RITES
The funeral of J. Victor Schrader, who died last Friday at Odessa, Minn., will be held at the Preston funeral home Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock followed by interment in the Rock Falls cemetery.

GAS PUMP DAMAGED
One of the electrically operated gasoline pumps at the Barrage service station was considerably damaged this morning about 8:30. The emergency brakes on a truck which was parked on Ottawa avenue south of First street, failed to hold and the truck coasted down the steep grade, crossed the drive and crashed into one of the pumps. The truck was not damaged.

VOTES TO ACCEPT BIDS
The new road and bridge committee at a meeting yesterday at the office of County Superintendent of Highways Fred Leake, voted to accept bids for gasoline, oil and greases to be used during the ensuing year by the equipment of the county highway system. For some years past, dealers have complained that former committees neglected to advertise for bids and made direct purchases of the supplies.

CIRCUS COMING
City Clerk Wayne C. Smith has issued the permit for the first circus to show in Dixon this season. Art Miller, advance agent for the Sells Sterling motorized circus obtained a permit for Saturday May 14, the location to be announced later. Another motorized circus representative was in Dixon last week seeking a date for an appearance here about the middle of May, but the permit has not been issued to date.

SCENE OF BEAUTY
Lovell park is at the peak of its beauty. The ideal spring weather and warm rains have brought out a profusion of wild flowers throughout the park and the trees and shrubbery are taking on their summer foliage rapidly. The shelters and picnic grounds are being liberally patronized daily by patrons of the park, and the playground equipment is being made ready for the entertainment of the youngsters.

RUBBISH FIRE
The fire department poured water into the city dump on West Third street for three hours last night to extinguish a fire which had started from spontaneous combustion in the rubbish. Three of the firemen went to the dump at 7 o'clock and worked until 10 last night before the fire was extinguished.

Diesels Indicted
Dallas, April 19—(AP)—A yellow "London" fog would fill American cities, the American Chemical Society was told today, if all the country's 30,000,000 motor cars were altered to run with Diesel engines.

The fog would be fine oil droplets. They would come from the exhausts, due to a habit of present Diesels of occasionally "sneezing" out some unburned oil.

Ickes Not Satisfied About the Pending Helium Sale to Germany

Washington, April 19—(AP)—Secretary Ickes said today he was not satisfied yet that a pending contract for the sale of helium gas to the German Zeppelin company afforded "proper protection" against use of the gas for foreign military purposes.

Ickes discussed the proposed helium sale to Germany with President Roosevelt, and said, as he left the White House, that the president had not given him any opinion about the contract.

"There are legal and practical questions that have to be resolved before I can express them in a contract," Ickes said.

The state department, he explained, had approved the proposed sale and had favored "a bond," without naming an amount to be furnished by the Zeppelin company, as a guarantee that the non-inflammable gas sold from America's monopoly supply would be used only for commercial aviation purposes.

Ickes said the Zeppelin firm had notified him it would not furnish a performance of penal bond. The navy and war departments, he said, as well as the state department, "concur in the idea of a bond."

The German Zeppelin interests arranged to purchase a supply of the gas from the United States to inflate a new dirigible to continue trans-Atlantic service interrupted by the explosion that destroyed the Hindenburg over Lakehurst, N. J.

Unusual Catch

West Point, Neb., April 19—(AP)—Jim Neary brought no fish home, but he did catch a chicken on his hook.

Returning after an unlucky bit of angling, Neary tossed his tackle over a fence—then regretted it immediately. One of his best laying hens swallowed hook, bait and sinker.

"Ah, well," philosophized Neary, "I always did like chicken better than fish."

SAYS WAR WOULD BREED DICTATOR FOR AMERICANS

Warns Totalitarian Philosophy Needs War Discipline

Washington, April 19—(AP)—Mrs. William A. Becker, retiring president-general of the Daughters of the American Revolution, declared today that the "quickest way to create a totalitarian state in America is to get into a war."

New challenges, Mrs. Becker told the organization's congress, demand "the same enduring qualities that enabled our colonists to found a nation on strange soil and push it on to stupendous achievement and stability."

"The best security against communism, nazism and fascism," she said, "is the contentment, happiness and prosperity of the people."

Mrs. Becker, reporting on her three-year term, advocated a required course in citizenship and government in every American school to combat "the invasion of new ideas, new theories, false doctrines."

"In my day, the Bible was read daily in the school and I believe it should be read daily," she said.

She urged further organization of junior D. A. R. groups, reporting the addition of 220 such chapters in the last three years. The society, she said, does not "owe a cent to the outside world," and a reserve fund set up during her administration will amount to $100,000.

After the opening session last night, the 4,000 delegates and visitors were entertained at a reception by Mrs. Henry M. Robert, Jr., of Annapolis, Md., unopposed candidate to succeed Mrs. Becker as president-general.

Six Persons Named By Federal Grand Jury In Freeport

Freeport, Ill., April 19—(AP)—Six persons were named in true bills returned by the Federal grand jury yesterday. Those indicted and the charges were:

Wilbur L. and Frank W. Keil, brothers, of Freeport, Ill., robbery of a postal sub-station; Robert Collins, Freeport Negro, stealing and cashing WPA checks; James Anastase, Rockford, operation of a still and failure to pay tax on distilled liquor; and Thomas K. Dunbar and Joe Lombardo, of Chicago, attempted robbery of a Federal deposit insurance company member bank at Holcomb.

Bernard P. Bresler of East Dubuque was sentenced to 16 months in jail and fined 1,200 when he pleaded guilty to a charge of violating the internal revenue laws.

The court took no action on a plea for probation by Mrs. Ida F. Briggs, former postmistress at Lyndon. She had pleaded guilty previously to charges of embezzling postal funds.

FOR SENATE REVIEW
Washington, April 18—(AP)—Senator Lewis (D-Ill.) suggested today that the senate review proposed reciprocal trade treaties with nations which are not paying war debts to this country or are failing to seek adjustment of their debts. A resolution by Lewis would permit the senate to suggest to the state department or to the president whether the treaties should be revised, finally approved or dropped.

STRIKERS COLOR U. S. INDUSTRIAL PICTURE TODAY

Truck Drivers, Transportation Tie-Ups Most Serious

BULLETIN
New York, April 19—(AP)—The Polo Grounds was picketed today, as the major league baseball season opened in New York, by special officers, formerly employed by the National Exhibition company, owners of the Giants.

About 50 of the guards, reinforced by other members of the Ball Park, Stadium & Sporting Centers Employees union, local 90 (A. F. of L.), about 125 all told, marched in the line.

A spokesman said the men were locked out and their jobs given to employees of the William J. Burns Detective Agency. He said they had been offered jobs through the agency but had refused because they would have to sever their union affiliations.

At the Burns Agency a spokesman said the company had signed a contract with the National Exhibition company to provide guards, and that the picketing was none of its concern.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A truck drivers' strike in Rochester, N. Y., a transportation strike in Columbus, Ohio, and suspension of operations at Fisher Body Plant No. 1 in Flint, Mich., highlighted the nation's industrial picture today.

At the Wilmington, Calif., assembly plant of the Ford Motor Company a strike curtailed operations. Officials of the company were reported en route to the coast to try and settle the difficulties.

Produce dealers and strike leaders in Rochester started their second conference in the four-day strike, hopeful an agreement would relieve pressure on the Rochester public market. Truck company operators other than produce dealers, however, did not yield to the drivers.

Sympathy Strike
Truck operators asked a cumulative 54-hour week with a maximum of nine hours for a working day before overtime rates become effective. Under the present contract overtime rates of time and a half are paid after eight hours work and 48 hours constitute a work-week. The Associated Trucking Industry, Inc., which includes most of the big truck fleet owners, has refused to yield to union demands for higher wages and a continued 48-hour week.

A sympathy strike of coal truck drivers and ice peddlers was forecast by Edwin R. Young, business agent for the brotherhood of teamsters, chauffeurs, stablemen and helpers union, if the strike is not settled at once.

In Columbus, U. S. Concliator John L. Connor called a meeting for today in an effort to settle the three-day-old strike of street car and motor bus operators which left the city's transportation facilities badly crippled. The strike started after the Columbus & Southern Ohio Electric Co. refused to grant demands from the Car-men's union for wage increases and a closed shop.

Amended Complaint Filed in Divorce Bill

John Kessel of Amboy, through his attorney, has filed an amended complaint in his bill for divorce against Blanche Kessel in the circuit court. The amended bill withdraws the name of an alleged correspondent, named in the original, "whose identity is to be revealed upon the order of the court." The complaint says that the plaintiff left his wife on Dec. 10, 1937 after becoming acquainted with facts set forth in the original bill.

Lillian Sibigroth of this city has filed an action for separate maintenance in the circuit court against Steve Sibigroth. The couple were married in Springfield, Minn., Dec. 15, 1915 and are the parents of four minor children: Helen, 16; Frank, 13; Grace, 10 and Lulu May 7. Extreme and repeated cruelty is charged in the bill of complaint, in which the plaintiff cites one specific instance which occurred on April 10 of this year, when she alleges that her husband assaulted her, cutting her face and breaking her glasses, after which he was fined $25 and costs and confined in the county jail. In her bill, she requests that the court order separate maintenance for the care, education and maintenance of the four children.

FOR SENATE REVIEW
Washington, April 18—(AP)—Senator Lewis (D-Ill.) suggested today that the senate review proposed reciprocal trade treaties with nations which are not paying war debts to this country or are failing to seek adjustment of their debts. News of Interest to Community Farmers

SAYS WEATHER PROSPECTS ARE GOOD FOR CROPS

Rainfall is Opposite of What It Was Two Years Ago

By PROF. SELBY MAXWELL
Noted Meteorologist

The United States looks better in the spring of 1938 than it has looked for years. Within the last eight weeks I have completed a survey of the entire Ohio Valley and have made, in person, a weather-crop study of Illinois, Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and Arkansas as well, and in all these areas, both east and west, I find the prospects of valuable crops are good. Many places in Indiana and northern Ohio which were formerly too dry have now received water. In the west the Gulf Stream of the Air has sent up such bountiful quantities of water over Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas and other parts of the formerly dry areas of the west that growth is a thing of the past. A few dry areas remain in the western part of Texas, and in western Kansas and Colorado, but over Nebraska and Iowa, and a considerable part of North and South Dakota, the ground is so wet now that there will be little danger of drifting dust in 1938.

The other dry sections of the country are to be found in the eastern part of Ohio, portions of West Virginia and Kentucky, parts of Virginia, a small part of southern Indiana, adjacent parts of Kentucky, and a moderately large strip in the western part of Missouri and the northwest part of Arkansas. A relatively small dry area exists in the western part of the Texas Panhandle and locally northward to the western part of Kansas.

Shift in Rainfall

This year the rainfall is exactly the opposite of what it was in 1936. At that time the Gulf Stream of the Air poured most of its water along the Atlantic seaboard, making heavy storms, rain and floods in the east, while in the central and middle west and over the western plains there was mostly drought. There were many dust storms then and much suffering among farmers. This year the Gulf Stream of the Air is coming up from the western part of the Gulf of Mexico, flowing across Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Iowa, Missouri and northern Illinois, central and northern Indiana and northern Ohio. The east, as one might expect, is having drier weather now than is normal, while the west is having wetter conditions than normal, but the east, especially the Ohio Valley, can stand more drought than the west can.

Flooded Mine To Be Inspected By Mine Officials

Harrisburg, Ill., April 19—(AP)—Mine officials estimated today they would be able to enter the flooded Sahara No. 3 mine for an inspection by May 1. Pumps purchased by the state have been in almost constant operation since December, removing about 12,000 gallons of water per minute.

USE OF YEAST IN HOG RATIONS IS SAID TO BENEFIT

Illinois farmers can expect little or no benefit from fermenting either a poor oats ration or a good ration with yeast for growing pigs, it was pointed out at the annual swine growers' day held recently at the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.

Results of yeast feeding tests showed that there were no significant differences in the digestibility of the fermented and unfermented rations.

Of chief interest to the many visitors were the rye pasture experiments which the agricultural college is continuing from year to year to find methods of cutting pork production costs by lengthening the normal pasture season.

Two seasons of rye pasture are in use at the college's swine plant. One consists of winter rye for brood sows during gestation and another is for handling sows and their pigs up to weaning time with the least trouble and expense and without exposing the pigs to round worms and other hazards.

Advantages of Protein Supplement

This year's study dealt particularly with the advantage of feeding a protein supplement to sows and pigs on a non-leguminous pasture such as rye. For each 100 pounds of gain sows and pigs on rye pasture with protein supplement and shelled corn consumed only 436 pounds of feed, whereas for each 100 pounds of gain sows and pigs receiving protein supplement and shelled corn in dry lot required 1,027 pounds of feed. Sows and pigs on rye pasture, shelled corn and no protein supplement consumed 1,509 pounds of feed for each 100 pounds of gain.

Reports on the use of winter rye pasture for brood sows showed that fall-sown rye furnished six to eight weeks' pasture following the regular grazing season.

A comparison of the feed consumed by sows on rye pasture and those in dry lot indicated that the sows on pasture harvested on an acre basis the equivalent of 528 pounds of alfalfa hay, 5 bushels of corn and 30 pounds of protein supplement.

Lambs Ready For Market June First Show Most Profit

Forecasting strong competition for Illinois lambs, it has been suggested that feeders crowd their lambs to get them on the market before heavy shipments arrive from early lambing states.

Feed is relatively cheap this season, and it is probable that any grain fed to lambs will return good dividends in getting the lambs to market around June 1. That is when they usually net more money than at any other age.

Equal amounts of cracked corn and whole oats can be used with good results in a creep along with leafy legume hay until lambs go into pasture. If the pasture is very good, lambs may stop eating grain even though a creep is built in the field. Milk and pasture satisfy them, and little grain is likely to be eaten until after they are weaned or pasture becomes short.

If the lambs are to be market toppers, it is necessary that they be docked and that all male lambs be castrated. It pays to market only fat lambs, and the place to sort the lambs for finish is on the farm. Unfinished lambs can be retained for further feeding.

Grain-Milk Ration May Cut Costs Of Egg Production

For layers getting out on range, a modified spring ration may be one method by which Illinois poultrymen may reduce feed costs to meet lower egg prices, suggests H. H. Alp, poultry extension specialist, College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.

"Replacing egg mash with either ground, cracked or whole grain and replacing water with liquid skim milk, would be satisfactory for spring feeding of many laying flocks, particularly for those getting out on range," Alp said.

"Since spring is the natural laying season, most hens will lay without much encouragement," he continued. "For this reason, the grain-milk combination should produce eggs during April and May at low cost. A possible grain mixture would be yellow corn, 40 pounds; wheat, 25 pounds, and oats, 30 pounds."

Poultry Judge

Competing against 72 boys from 29 different high schools, Eugene Herwig of Ashton won high individual honors in the judging of poultry at the recent Section 1 Vo-Ag judging contest. Eugene scored 387 points out of a possible 400 in winning this honor and also played a most important part in helping Ashton win first place as a team in the poultry division.

FRANK PRIEBE'S WEEKLY LETTER TO POULTRY RAISERS

Dear Friends:

The last few years have been found to use many farm crops as raw materials for industrial products.

Corn cobs used to go into the kitchen stove. Today there are over sixty uses for them. And fifty seven products are made from the corn kernel. In the foundry of the largest automobile factories in the country, many parts of the car are made from by-products of soy beans. Skim milk, which used to be wasted, is now made into a variety of products—from buttons to soap.

And you know they say packers use practically everything in the pig but its squeal.

Last evening I picked up the paper and read about a meeting which is to be held in Omaha this month. It is the fourth annual conference of the National Farm Chemurgic Council.

They are going to spend three days talking about industrial uses they have found for farm products: Making boards out of the refuse from crushed sugar cane, wood pulp, and straw; plastic materials out of soy beans and corn stalks; power alcohol, for use in engines such as automobile motors, out of corn, artichokes, and potatoes; materials for building roads out of cotton.

It's amazing to hear the uses that are being found for the things we raise.

May Be Other Uses For Eggs

But eggs are still used only for food.

We can't say there's nothing else to do with eggs but eat them. A few years ago we probably would have said the same thing about corn and potatoes and soy beans.

And now look at what people are doing with them!

There are undoubtedly commercial uses for eggs we don't even suspect.

In the new farm bill a fund of $4,000,000 was set aside for research to find new uses for farm products. Poultry and eggs should certainly come in for a large share of this investigational work.

New outlets for eggs would mean more demand for them—and, consequently, a better market.

Sincerely yours,

Frank Priebe

ADVANTAGES OF WRITTEN LEASE ARE INDICATED

Many Local Farmers Are Continuing Exchange Of Property

With many farmers in Lee, Ogle and Bureau counties continuing the exchange of property which seems to go with spring, it might not be amiss to point out the advantages of a written lease as listed by the college of agriculture of the University of Illinois.

Although a written lease is advantageous to both landlord and tenant, in many communities verbal leases are more common than written ones.

Without a written lease or other proof as to the form of agreement, decisions for settlement in the event of a dispute must be based upon the present custom of the community. If no "customary practice" can be determined, then settlement is based upon common law, or interpretations which the courts have rendered; and common law, having grown out of long tradition and custom, may have little application to farm practice in a given community.

Furthermore, the fact that farm practices change often makes it undesirable to settle disputes by reference to precedents whether of the community or common law. When a clearly established precedent does not exist, new court decisions must be rendered.

List of Advantages

The advantages of a written lease may be listed as follows:

1. A written lease that provides for the more important farm practices will, in case of a dispute, prevent the application of interpretations growing out of common law, custom, or court decisions, which are unadaptable to the farm.
2. A written lease serves as a memorandum to which either landlord or tenant may refer in case of doubt as to the terms of their agreement; and it therefore serves as a means of preventing disputes.
3. It affords a basis for changing minor provisions when conditions arise which make adjustments desirable.
4. It protects not only the original parties, but their heirs and assigns in case either party should die.
5. It gives assurance that both parties will consider all phases of the contract.
6. When details of farm operation are specified in the lease, the lease serves as a history of the operation of the farm.

FARMERS ABOUT ASHTON PROTEST ROUTE CHANGES

Farmers residing north of Ashton are very irate over a recent order from Washington, D. C., to change their postoffice address from Ashton to Chana, which means less efficient service than they are getting at the present time.

The order provides for the consolidation of Ashton's two remaining routes into one. It affects an 8 mile stretch of the old route 2 and farmers on the route have started to circulate petitions protesting the change.

The change is made to make the two Chana routes longer, and the protests are made on the opinion that the mail service at Chana is much inferior to the mail service supplied by the Chicago & North-Western at Ashton.

During February, 1938, the 17 scheduled airlines of the United States carried 73,563 passengers and flew 4,560,887 miles. This is an increase of 15,355 passengers over February, 1937.

Farm Briefs

W. L. Weise of Amboy recently completed a deal for the sale of his 154-acre farm in Bureau county to Charles Fetzner. Mr. Fetzner will take immediate possession. The farm is situated between Van Orin and Ohio and has been tenanted by Bernard Gugerty.

Hale Scott of Ashton hatched out a brand of chickens recently which caused quite a little interest. They were called turkeys and are a cross between turkeys and chickens. The stripe of the turkey was very plainly marked, and Mrs. Scott states that the little birds will develop into very large chickens in size of from 12 to 14 pounds.

Illinois home and commercial vegetable gardeners stand to profit this year by a more general use of those varieties of vegetables which have been bred to resist certain prevalent diseases. There are now several varieties of tomatoes available that are highly resistant to Fusarium wilt, a disease that causes serious losses. In addition, the plants are of excellent quality and are high yielders.

Farmers in 1 Illinois counties are co-operating this spring with local farm advisers, the extension service of the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois, and the State Natural History Survey in making demonstration plantings of windbreak trees. Two such demonstrations will be made in Lee county on Thursday, April 28. The first will be on the Dale Rosenkrans farm and the second on the Otto Goehle farm in Reynolds township.

Mr. and Mrs. Parker who have been living in the John Mong tenement house near Franklin Grove have moved to the Joe Ling house.

A spray of three pounds of lead arsenate in 100 gallons of water is effective in combating canker worms which are now attacking many trees in western Illinois.

Poles wrapped with burlap or rope which is then kept soaked with crude oil or crankcase oil will help keep cattle free from lice.

Dates of the Illinois State Fair at Springfield are August 13-20.

John Rogde, brother of Mrs. Herbert Beals of Lee, and employed on the Edwin Coffield farm near Lee was painfully injured last week when he was run over by a tractor with which he was working. He had stopped the tractor and as working at the rear of the machine when it suddenly started up and ran over one leg. The leg was broken below the knee and Mr. Rogde was taken to the Rochelle hospital for treatment.

The number of chickens on farms is probably the lowest since 1922, according to the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Numbers are estimated at 387,251,000 and compare with 420,257,000 last year, a decline of 7.9 per cent.

The 4-H Club rally will be held in the Lee Center high school gymnasium on Wednesday evening, April 20. All fathers and mothers of the boys and girls carrying 4-H club work in Lee county are invited to attend. A program will be planned to entertain the group. This will be the first club rally held in Lee county and those in charge are anxious to have a large attendance.

WRAPPING AIDS YOUNG TREES TO REPEL INSECTS

Fully 95 per cent of all newly transplanted shade trees in Illinois will be damaged by wood boring insects this summer unless the trees are wrapped. It is predicted by entomologists of the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois and Illinois State Natural History Survey.

"For the first two or three years after a tree has been transplanted, it needs to be wrapped to protect it from both sun scald and wood-boring insects," M. D. Farrar, research entomologist, State Natural History Survey, explained. Although not all trees attacked by wood-boring insects are killed, they are so severely damaged that they will never make good trees. Wrapping affords protection against only the most important boring insect, the flat-headed borer.

This insect attacks a wide variety of trees including elm, maple, sycamore, white oak, red oak, black oak, linden, willow, locust and others. It is best to wrap trees at the time they are transplanted, and it is important that the trunks be kept wrapped for the first two summers after they are planted. May through August are the months when adult borers are most abundant and are laying their eggs.

Wrappings need to be expensive. Newspapers, wrapping paper, burlap or other light-proof papers are about equally effective in controlling trunk borers. Loops of binder twine at 3 to 4-inch intervals are used in most cases to keep the paper wrappings on the trunk. The twine lasts about two years after which the tree is able to repel the insects, since they do not attack a vigorously growing trunk.

Contrary to common belief, whitewashing of the tree trunks does not prevent damage by borers. Most wash treatments are a waste of both time and money, Farrar said.

U. of I. Lists 13 Point Program To Improve Horses

A 13-point program looking toward the improvement of the $90-500,000 worth of horses and mules on Illinois farms has been outlined by the department of animal husbandry, college of agriculture, University of Illinois.

The 13 points are: (1) use of good draft work mares to keep the farm well supplied with work stock, (2) use of a good, rugged pure-bred draft stallion of even better conformation and quality than the mares, (3) improving the stock by keeping only the best mares, (4) breeding for late spring or early summer foals, (5) giving mares one or two weeks of rest after foaling, (6) weaning foals at five or six months of age, (7) breaking colts to work at two or coming three years of age, (8) feeding work horses liberally on oats and corn, (9) treating horses for parasites early each winter, (10) wintering idle horses largely on roughage in the fields, (11) combining horses into teams for easy and cheap operation, (12) using horses to convert home-grown feed into power, and (13) studying farm horse management.

On April 14, approximately 150 Lee County Home Bureau members enjoyed a tour sponsored by the Dixon Chamber of Commerce. This tour included visits to the cheese department of Borden's factory, Pooles laundry, Dixon state hospital, Illinois Northern Utility, and Beiler's bakery. The retail division of the Chamber of Commerce entertained the women at the Nachusa Tavern for lunch. Charles Miller, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and William Sliothover, mayor of Dixon, welcomed the group. Mrs. Charles Ross of Lee Center, county chairman of home bureau, voiced the appreciation of the women for an educational and pleasant day.

THE LIVING SOIL ... ITS MODERN CARE

By CHARLES H. SALT

Director, The Living Soil Institute

The writer recalls having been awakened from his usual classroom slumbers back in college by the comment of his botany professor regarding the almost unbelievable pressure that a seed is capable of exerting in germinating, or, in

The size of seeds must likewise be considered. Pine seeds are best broadcast on the surface and pressed into the fine soil with your roller-rake. Larger types require a furrow made with your hand-plow or rake. A useful rule-of-thumb is the one advising the gardener to sow seeds at a depth no greater than two to four times their diameter.

The seeds in the furrow, covering with soil follows. The best plan is to pull the soil lightly over the seed and compact it with a roller-rake. The amount of moisture in the soil and the size of the seed determines the amount of firming that is desirable. Excessive packing when the soil is very moist will prove unsatisfactory.

Temperature control is out of the question for the gardener. His only means of regulating this factor is to sow the seeds of harder plants in early spring.

Soybeans are Needed For Variety of Uses

Breeding to improve the soybean is only beginning, but the chances are bright says W. J. Morse of the United States Department of Agriculture. New varieties are needed, even though the Department and the States have already imported more than 10,000 lots of seed.

Soybeans are particular in their local requirements, are more variable than many plants, and are grown for a variety of purposes. A good forage variety for one area may not do at all well elsewhere. A good forage bean may not be a good milling bean, or be useful as a vegetable.

Some growers want soybeans for forage; others for oil and meal processing; still others as vegetable. The result is that each local area in the soybean regions needs a soybean variety that will do well in that particular place and for a definite purpose. Such an area may even need two or three varieties—one for forage, one for oil or protein content for the mills, and a third for the table.

The soybean is a self-fertilized plant. Artificial crossing is difficult and tedious, but it can be done. The 10,000 lots that have been imported have supplied some varieties desirable in certain localities. They also offer a wealth of material for combining in new hybrids that will meet the needs—area by area—of American soybean growers.

Did You Know That?

Black's Pfister quality hybrid Seed Corn is adapted to meet the specific conditions of the soil and weather on your farm?

Black's Pfister Hybrids have proven beyond a doubt that they can yield 10 to 25 per cent more corn per acre than the best average strains.

Black's Pfister Hybrids develop a deeper root system, frequently to a depth of eight feet. This superb root system in itself will find moisture and plant foot in the subsoil when all other corns may fail.

Black's Pfister Hybrids produce healthier plants and superior quality ears. The ears are more uniform in height and size and are ideal for husking.

Black's Pfister Hybrid seed is graded down so close that every kernel looks like the other.

If you have not planned on using Black's Pfister quality Hybrid seed corn then by all means order some today to compare with the corn you are producing for 1938.

Black's Pfister Hybrids are grown and developed in the vicinity of your farms and will meet the growing conditions perfectly.

Play safe by growing this dependable corn in 1938.

Miller-Vito Concert
To Be Given April 29

The final concert of the present series sponsored by the Dixon Concert association will be held on Friday, April 29, in the Methodist church at 8:15 p. m.

The concert will be a joint recital by two distinguished artists, William Miller and Edward Vito, who will provide a varied program of vocal and instrumental numbers.

Mr. Miller, lyric tenor, has enjoyed increasing success and popularity since he made his debut in 1930, being referred to at times as "the American John McCormack."

Mr. Vito is a harpist of rare ability who has presented programs both on the concert stage and over the radio.

Admission to the concert will be by ticket, but those not holding tickets may attend without charge provided they purchase a season ticket for next year's concert series.

Mrs. Frank Krug Is Honored on Birthday

A pleasant social event took place at the Frank Krug home, 816 West Third street, last night when a group of neighbors and friends gathered to celebrate Mrs. Krug's birthday. The happy group gathered bringing with them cheer and happiness, and all, of course, saying to Mrs. Krug "Happy Birthday."

The affair was a surprise party and those attending congratulated their hostess on reaching another milestone in life. The congenial welcome to the Krug home made it easy for everyone to enter into the spirit of the evening and the pleasant association made the time pass quickly.

Many pretty and valuable gifts were given Mrs. Krug and each gift carried good-cheer and good prospects for other happy birthdays. Although Mrs. Krug's hands are very much crippled yet she has done some fancy crochet work, samples of which were shown last night. She has crocheted fancy designs on over 50 pair of pillow slips.

Tasty refreshments of cake and fruit salad were served, after which the group went to their homes after thanking the Krugs for the pleasant evening in their home and wishing for Mrs. Krug many more happy birthdays.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Roy Glessner, Mr. and Mrs. Edw. Becktol, Ada Underwood, Mary Underwood, Edith McWethy, Harriet McWethy, Alice Morris, Galen Myers, Rev. and Mrs. William E. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Utz and children, Garland, Richard and Kenneth, Elsie Krug, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Krug.

PINOCHLE AND BUNCO PARTY—
The pinochle and bunco party held last night at St. Mary's hall was a success. The first prize for pinochle for ladies was won by Mrs. Dulen, for men by Charles Burke. At bunco the first prize for men went to Jack Taylor and for the ladies to Mrs. Lahey. Another prize was won by Peter Duffy. In the afternoon 100 children played bunco and first prize for the boys went to George Muntena and for the girls to Mary Joan Vaile. The sponsors for the parties were the second and third grade room mothers with Mrs. George McKenney and Mrs. J. M. Brady as chairmen.

FOUR STAR MUSIC CLUB—
The Four Star Music club held its weekly meeting last night and plans were made for the forthcoming plays "Like Mistress-Like Maid" to be presented by the Four Star Music club and "Romance of the Past" to be given by the Lab-hoe club. The next musical rehearsal will be held at the home of Miss Jessie Weaver at Nelson and the next rehearsal for the two plays will be held Monday with Mrs. Charles Lawson.

THE LUCAS VICTORY

Congressman Scott Lucas' victory over M. L. Igoe in the contest for the nomination for United States senator in the Democratic primary was substantial.

It would be foolish to undertake to separate the big row over the control of the party in Illinois from the relationship the contest bore to the Democratic administration in Washington, but it would be equally foolish to think that defeat of Lucas would not have been held up in Washington as the first casualty of opponents of President Roosevelt's assault upon the Supreme Court and the American system of government.

Consequently, we need not ignore the fact that in the first primary election of importance since the defeat of the president on that pet issue, Senator Dieterich, the Roosevelt supporter, first was run to the woods by Lucas, the outspoken opponent of court packing, and Michael L. Igoe, who undertook to capitalize Lucas' irregularity in this campaign, went down to defeat. Representative Lucas stood on his record and received the nomination.

It is true that the issue was not drawn squarely, but opponents of Lucas read from their platform quotations from his speech, and cited them as evidence of his opposition to Roosevelt. It is also true that the quotations usually were used adroitly and without explanation that they were from the speech in opposition to court packing.

Instead of attempting to show that he was a better supporter of Roosevelt than Lucas, perhaps Mr. Igoe would have done better had he told the people that he is as much opposed to tampering with the American system as Lucas is.

Administration mouthpieces will parade the fact that as between Mr. Lucas and Mr. Igoe, the president was neutral and will undertake to take the court issue out of it, although anybody with any political sense at all knows that had Lucas been defeated, he would have been held up as the first casualty of opponents of court packing.

The fact is that Senator Dieterich is the first casualty in the court fight, as all sides dropped him as a hot potato.

THIS IS GOING TO BE AMUSING

France and Great Britain are going to recognize Italy's conquest of Ethiopia. Having achieved realism in their governmental policies, as against the idealism that had prevailed predominantly since the World War, they are going to do the thing they know they shouldn't do and really don't wish to do.

The purpose in extending recognition of the grab is to woo Dictator Mussolini away from Dictator Hitler.

Americans who have no practical interest in European politics are entitled nevertheless to what amusement they can get out of the forthcoming explanations:

Both France and England are members of the League of Nations, and the League has positive rules against such misbehavior as the Ethiopian steal. That either will withdraw from the league at this time is unthinkable, so they must bring the league around to recognizing the new status of Ethiopia. They are not permitted, under league regulations, to recognize Italy's conquest independently. The league was organized to prevent such things as the Ethiopian conquest. It will be interesting to see what artful dodging will be employed to make the conquest legal, in defiance of almost every important item in the league covenant.

France and Britain are going to recognize Ethiopia as an Italian colony in order to break the Rome-Berlin axis. That puts Mussolini on the spot. It will be remembered that the league members, including England and France, voted sanctions against Italy in an ostensible effort to halt the war. Such sanctions as were imposed were ineffective, but they were a token. Certain countries, including Austria and Germany, refused to conform to the sanctions. They helped Mussolini to conquer Ethiopia.

Today the powers that hampered Italy in the Ethiopian war are planning to recognize the conquest in order to win Italy away from the only large power that helped Italy defeat Ethiopia by continuing normal commercial relations.

If Mussolini accepts that bait he will of course be accused in Germany of ingratitude. However, if Mussolini is "realistic," as England and France are under Chamberlain and Daladier, he will go to the side which offers the best terms.

Spain, unless events turn out differently than expected, will not be a stumbling block much longer. It may eventuate that while Italy and England confer in the withdrawal of volunteers in Spain, the war will be won by rebel forces and the volunteer question will solve itself. The question of what influence Italy will seek to retain in Spain when peace comes there can await further developments.

In a way, the Franco-British overtures toward Italy come at a favorable time. Such peaceful relations as are established will last while Italy consolidates her hold on Ethiopia and while Germany digests Austria. After that, both dictators will seek new worlds to conquer and the axis, if fractured, can be repaired.

Question: If Britain recognizes the changed status of Ethiopia, will she do the same for Japan in Manchuria?

down here to fight this reorganization bill." O'Toole favored the bill but expressed willingness to listen to the delegation. "The your horses outside," he said cordially, "and make yourselves at home." "But, Mr. Congressman," replied the first speaker, in deadly earnest, "you misunderstand. We are not that kind of Paul Revere. We haven't any horses. We came by train." "What, no horses?" boomed O'Toole in mock indignation. "Well in that case, all I can say is, no horses, no vote." The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND note the kind of measure on which to make an appeal for popular support.

NOTE—New Deal foes of the legislation are calling it the "Baruch Bill," "Bernie" Baruch, multi-millionaire New York speculator, is an intimate friend of Chairman Pat Harrison of the Senate Finance Committee and proposed most of its major features.

Very Angry
Of all the critics of the Senate Bill none is hotter under the collar about it than Under Secretary Roswell Magill, the Treasury's young tax expert.

When the House measure emerged from the House Ways and Means Committee, with the rate schedules of the capital gains and undivided profits taxes whittled to the bone, left-wing Administration bitters denounced Magill for "saving the principle but throwing away the taxes." Reason was that he had been the committee's consultant in the framing of the bill.

When the bill moved to the Senate side, Harrison completely disregarded Magill. The door literally was slammed in his face. Pat directed the revision of the House measure in accordance with the theories advanced by Baruch.

Magill is the pedagogic type, mild of manner and conciliatory, but the kicking around he got from the Senate committee burned him up. Publicly he said nothing. But he talked where it counted. NOTE—The sizzling letter the President sent the congressional conferees on the tax bill was written by Magill.

Garner and Roosevelt
Despite all denials of a clash between the President and Jack Garner, here is a significant indication of what the grizzled little Texan thinks of the man whom he acclaimed effusively as "my Commander-in-Chief" at the Philadelphia convention just two years ago.

Last fall, when the Vice President returned to the Capital, he announced that he was going to solve the grass problem of the tree-shaded White House lawns. He said that he had a special shade grass which grows at his home in Uvalde. So the other day a friend inquired if he had sent the White House the promised grass seed.

"Oh, I don't want to presume to tell them how to run the place," Garner replied. "I don't think you would be presuming," his friend replied. "The White House lawns certainly could use some durable grass."

"Humph," snorted Garner acidly, "that isn't the only thing they could use around there."

Big Business Move
W. Averell Harriman, one-time mogul of the NRA, and chief, power in the Union Pacific railroad, has been in Washington recently conferring on how big business and the New Deal can get together for the mutual purpose of hoisting the country out of the recession.

The idea evolved jointly by Harriman and some of the practical-minded New Dealers is to get definite pledges from some of the big companies regarding how much they would be willing to spend on new equipment, new improvements and on other moves that would put men to work.

In return is proposed a sort of "moratorium on reform" until business picks up. It is too early yet to say what will come of the discussions, but Harriman is doing his best to persuade some of his big business colleagues that now is the time to get busy and add money of their own to the government spending program.

NOTE—W. A. Harriman is the son of the great railroad financier who got control of the Union Pacific during the last century and engaged in the famous race with Jim Hill for control of the Northern Pacific. Harriman, Sr., was bitterly denounced by President Theodore Roosevelt, but young Harriman has been co-operating with Franklin Roosevelt.

Young Harriman is also a power in Western Union, the Illinois Central railroad, the Guaranty Trust, and Brown Bros. Harriman and Company.

Merry-Go-Round

Occasionally Mrs. Morgenthau uses it, or Son James and his wife Betty. . . . Selcom weighed in the scales of Pan-Americanism is the bond made by the comic strips. Well-known U. No Horse, No Vote

At the height of the reorganization bill battle, Representative Donald L. O'Toole, Brooklyn Administrationite, once found his office jammed with a large delegation of men and women.

"We are the Paul Revere Cavalade from New York," one of the visitors explained, "and we are

MEDWICK IS MOST FEARED CARD BATTER

His Average Is .374
With Mize's .364
Second Place

On the summit of the 1937 National League batting averages appears the name "Medwick. St. Louis, .374." Right next is "Mize, St. Louis, .364." Turning to the American Association's figuring the 1937 batting champ is "Slaughter, Columbus, .382."

That was last year. Here, now and today, as the National League squares off for its 63rd pennant race, Medwick and Mize are still tied together in the Cardinals' batting order and cemented with them in a towering triumvirate of might appears the fair name of "Enos Bradshaw Slaughter," champion power-house of the most impressive crop of heavy-hitting newcomers to break into National League box scores for 20 years past. When forecasting pennant prospects, let your eye dwell for a studious moment on that conglomeration of clout massed in the middle of the Red Bird array.

They march to the plate in the order of their 1937 averages, Slaughter, then Medwick, then Mize. If that means a lot to you in analyzing flag possibilities, think what it means to the pitchers of seven other National League clubs! First a .382 man, then .374, then .364!

Your 374 Medwick also led the National League in slugging, runs-batted-in, runs scored, number of hits, total bases and two-baggers and was tie with Ott for the home run crown. Your 364 Mize on a right good race with Medwick in all departments. In home run making Georgia John was the only slugger in the league to hit a home run in every park.

And on top of Medwick and Mize, there's Slaughter! That's the answer to why the Red Birds of St. Louis chirp brighter and beamier as the curtain rises on the 1938 baseball scene. That's why pennant bees buzz in the lush green valley where the Missouri joins old pap Mississippi. That's why visiting pitching staffs will be developing sudden sore-arm epidemics as their trains roll over the bridges into Cardinalsville.

Slaughter's on top of the 2-M hookup not because he's a left-hand hitter, with speed in his feet, as attested by 18 stolen bases last year, making him a "natural" for the No. 3 spot when there's a Medwick handy for the cleanup niche. "Ducky Joe" knocked 154 runs over the plate last year. With a .382 hitter ahead of him he'd have knocked home at least 30 more.

Is Later Story
Just what figure that A. A. 382 will pay off in the National League belongs among the stories to be written later on this summer. On past performance young Enos has a well-developed habit of improving every year. It's sensational to review his brief career and note that no matter how big the jump in classification, Slaughter power has met the test.

In 1935 it was Martinsville, Va., the Bi-State League, Class D, and Slaughter hit .273. Next year Columbus, Ga., Class B, and .323. Third year Columbus, but this time the Double-A Columbus, and .382. It's not any further from Class AA to the majors than from Class A to AA but there's not much room above that .382. Boss Frisch and the Cardinal fans won't demand continued boosting of that average. They'll settle for .382.

Joe Medwick's great year, adorned with his four-hit sensationalism in the All-Star Game and garlanded with a string of batting titles, set a shining mark for Cardinals sluggers of the future to shoot at. Slaughter's rapid rise in 3 years of pro baseball offers evidence that the fair-haired young man from Carolina has the stuff to do some tall shooting at the Medwick mark.

Day by day through the 1937 season Slaughter in the Association was coming close to matching Medwick in the National. To his batting title he appended the total hits championship, also total bases and runs scored. He batted home 122 runs and hit 26 homers.

So in Columbus they tackled on title. "A left-hand hitting Medwick," and that's why National League pitchers are quaking as they look ahead to coming Cardinals contests. Last year just one Medwick with a Mize on his heels, was enough to spoil a whole week for enemy pitching staffs. With a left-hand hitting Medwick coming

Coaches Seeking Talent By Staging Interclass Meet

Interclass competition was to be held this afternoon and will be staged again tomorrow between Dixon high school classes to determine more clearly to Coaches A. C. Bowers and Marvin Winger what talent is available for the 1938 track and field team, which must defend its N. C. I. championship for the sixth consecutive year.

Fourteen events will be run off in the two days commencing at 3:45 p. m., each day. This afternoon the high hurdles, shot put, mile, broad jump, 440-yard dash, javelin, and 100-yard dash were scheduled, provided rain didn't interfere. Tomorrow the low hurdles, pole vault, half mile, high jump, 220-yard dash, discus throw and relay race will be run.

Coach A. C. Bowers said this morning if the condition of the track and field proves unsatisfactory today all interscholastic meets this spring will have to be held elsewhere.

up ahead of Ducky and Johnny, what a spot to try for a no-hit game!

About Age of Medwick
Slaughter is breaking in at about the same age as Medwick was when he made his first National League hit in the fall of 1932. Medwick was 21 then and Slaughter is 21 now. There's everything there for him in the way of major league glory, just as there was for 21-year-old Ducky.

He's a Cardinals school product. Roxboro, N. C., his home town, lies near North Carolina's Virginia border just up the highway from Greensboro, and it was at Greensboro in 1934 that young Enos caught the eye of Fred Haney, one of the overseers. Martinsville, Va., in the Bi-State League became Slaughter's first professional alma mater.

They called him "Country" for a nickname because he was right off the farm. He has three country brothers developing into good country hitters in the Tarheel zone. Besides breaking fast when flies and liners come sailing out his way, Enos packs a deadly throwing arm.

"Got it throwing stones at rabbits," he told the boys when they asked.
Cresting his great year in the Association was his hitting streak of 34 straight games through June into July until three Indianapolis pitchers stopped him July 6. Against Newark in the Little World Series last fall his homer with King on base in the seventh won the third game for the Birds.

St. Louis looms large in the National League scene as 1938 gets moving. Dizzy Dean's foot is sound and strong, his arm is showing the same might that dominated the 1934 pennant race and world championship. There's Warneke and Welland and St. Johnson and some sturdy young aces like Max Macon to make Card fans feel pennant premonitions as in 1926, 1928, 1930, 1931 and 1934.

Bristling Bat-Pile
But mainly there's that bristling bath-pile that spread dismay far and wide last summer, with Medwick and Mize in the middle, and on top of Medwick and Mize—Slaughter.

The Cincy Reds want to run relay races for the outfield championship of baseball. They claim Ival Goodman, Dusty Cooke and Harry Craft can out-sprint any other opening day outfield lineup in either major league for dimes, dollars or doughnuts. . . . Figuring the Giants starting pitchers as Hubbell, Schumacher, Castellan, Gumbert and Melton, the average age of the staff is about 26, yet every man is an experienced slabster. . . . Lou Fette's cohorts claim the undisputed whitewash championship for him. They point out that although Turner, his Bee staff-mate, and Lee Grissom, of the Reds, also had 5 shutouts each, two of Fette's were overtime jobs, a 12-inning 7-hitter against Brooklyn June 29 and a 13-inning job against the Phils July 11.

Two Given Probation After Guilty Pleas To Manslaughter

Olney, Ill., April 19—(AP)—Two Richland county youths pleaded guilty to manslaughter in two highway accident deaths and were placed on probation for one year each by Circuit Judge Blaine Huffman. The two were Marion Walker, 18, of Clay City, charged with the death of Mrs. Nelson Leo of Olney in an auto crash; and Charles Kerr, 23, she factory employee here, charged with the death of Everett Ridgely of Sumner.

YANKS ABSORB LOSS IN FIRST LOOP CONTEST

DiMaggio Still On the Holdout List As Rivals Beam

BY GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The sun-tanned countenances of seven American League managers were wreathed in new hope today as the great major league baseball campaign began on all fronts. Only a general rain that swished up and down the Atlantic seaboard threatened to dampen the days' festivities.

The pilots of the junior circuit beamed in their morning mirrors as they thought of the 8 to 4 licking the champion New York Yankees absorbed in their opener against the Boston Red Sox yesterday.

They thrilled over their breakfast bacon, too, as they noted that jolting Joe DiMaggio, the Yankees' missing slugger, still was mad at Owner Jacob Ruppert because he wouldn't pay him $40,000 for the season. Just as they suspected, the Yankees are going to miss the lad.

Only five hits they got in six innings off Jim Bagby, Jr., a 24-year-old kid starting his first major league game, and their prized new second baseman, Joe Gordon, whiffed twice. And the mighty Red Ruffing, who won 20 games last season, was slammed from the box.

The Washington Senators, victors over the Philadelphia Athletics, 12 to 8, in yesterday's bob-tailed opening program, had reason to be proud of the swap that got them First Baseman Zeke Bonura from Chicago in exchange for Joe Kuhel. The big fellow smacked three hits, including a mighty home run into the left center stands with two on base.

Points of Interest
Today's remaining American League openers brought up a few more points of prime interest. The matter of the big trade between Chicago and Detroit, involving a couple of Walkers, Gee and Dixie, Vernon Kennedy and others, was due to be threshed out when the Tigers and White Sox clashed. And Mickey Cochrane had the comforting assurance that Schoolboy Rowe was ready to give his all for Detroit after being laid up most of last season with a sore arm. Rowe, voluntarily retired since last summer, applied for reinstatement yesterday.

Then, while rumors that DiMaggio had signed or was about to sign his Yankee contract were floating around, the St. Louis Browns stirred up a bit more excitement by offering to buy him for $150,000. They didn't get any further with that one than Joe with his holdout but the offer may bring out a few more customers for today's St. Louis opener at Cleveland.

Rival American leaguers were forced to admit, of course, that the Yankees' opening game loss wouldn't mean much over the long haul, but the punchless appearance of the champions at least let them conjure up a closer race than for the last two seasons—maybe even a humdrum like the one starting in the National league today is certain to be.

There was every prospect that, with a break in the weather, upward of 200,000 would witness today's contests, which included a Patriot's Day doubleheader between the Yankees and Red Sox at Boston.

Dean Deal Amazing
Increased interest has been aroused in the National league by the amazing deal of Saturday which sent pitcher Dizzy Dean to Chicago for $185,000 and three players. Reckoning Dizzy's total price tag at $250,000, it was the second biggest deal in baseball annals. In turning over that kind of money to the St. Louis Cardinals, Owner Phil Wrigley must have been completely satisfied that Dean's arm again is the wing that made him the scourge of the league two and three years ago.

Except for the Cardinals and Philadelphia, the National looks stronger all along the line. Brooklyn, Boston and Cincinnati all look capable of giving the favorites a fight. A winning team at Brooklyn, the craziest baseball town in either league, would mean plenty of money in the coffers of every rival team.

Since the prospective pennant contenders are at a opposite ends of the loop, there weren't any particularly important angles to be considered to today's opening program, sending the Giants off at

Souvenir Hunters Searching In Vain For FDR Writing

Washington, April 19—(AP)—Souvenir hunters scouted through the boxes at Griffith stadium today seeking presidential leftovers from the season's first baseball game.

Grandstand gossip had it that President Roosevelt kept a box score of the Washington-Philadelphia game yesterday, but if he did, he either took it to the White House or gave it away.

Dozen of scribbled score cards were found near the President's box. None bore anything faintly resembling what might have been presidential writing.

Four Sets of Twins Enter Kansas Relays

Lawrence, Kas., April 19—(AP)—If spectators at the sixteenth annual Kansas relays Saturday see double, it won't necessarily mean they've been drinking from the cup that cheers. Four sets of twins are entered.

They are the Rideout boys, Wayne and Blaine, stellar middle distance runners from North Texas Teachers; the Cain twins, Carl and Fred, Arkansas City junior college Negro lads who will compete in the decathlon; the Brown brothers, Elmer and Delmer, who specialize in sprints for North Texas Teachers, and the Teufel duo, Carl and Fred from the University of Iowa.

20,000 Expected At Tigers, White Sox Ball Opener

Chicago, April 19—(AP)—With fair weather predicted 20,000 fans were expected to be on hand tonight for the season's opener between the Chicago White Sox and Detroit Tigers.

Jimmy Dykes named Johnny Whitehead as his starting pitcher while Mike Corcoran delegated the Tiger mound duty to Roxie Lawson.

209 Line Up At Tape For Boston Marathon Race

Boston, April 19—(AP)—At least 25 potential winners could be counted today as a bulky field of 209 wiry-muscled runners, most of them veterans, prepared to go to the starting line in Hopkinton to compete in the 42nd renewal of the famous Boston A. A. marathon.

Seldom in this classic's history has it boasted such a well-balanced array of long distance stars.

Black used to be the most popular color with motorists but gunmetal gray is rapidly becoming the favorite, because motorists are learning that it shows dirt less than any other shade.

FIVE VETERANS READY FOR PIN TITLE HONORS

Birk Bros. Team Wins Major Prize, End of 5-Man Event

Chicago, April 19—(AP)—Five veterans from Chicago, an alley operator from Moline, Ill., a youngster from Jackson, Mich., and a pair of Indianapolis abstract writers are ready to be named champions of the bowling world tonight.

For 47 days and 47 nights thunder in the Coliseum has been made by 24,785 of the nation's best keggers competing in the 38th annual American Bowling Congress.

At 7 o'clock tonight the thunder will stop. The names at the top of the A. B. C. board will be officially declared champions of the four divisions.

The Birk Brothers Brewing Co. five-man team won the major prize, the team championship, when competing from 4,956 rivals came to an end early this morning. Their 3234 score marks an all-time high for the A. B. C. They won by 137 pins, a record margin.

Almost equally secure at the top of the singles has been Knute Anderson, alley proprietor from Moline. Anderson took first place on March 1, one month ago, with a 746-series. Only three times has this been exceeded in 38 years. Anderson's margin is 21 pins and unlikely to be changed by today's activities.

Beatty Scored 709
In the early days of the long grind a 23-year-old from Jackson, Mich., Don Beatty, scored 709 in his team event, 640 in the doubles and 629 in singles. When his grand total of 1978 was posted at the top of the all-events ratings, it was freely predicted he would not be one-two-three at the finish. But Beatty is still first by 19 pins.

Don Johnson and Bonnie Snyder, who work in an Indianapolis abstract office, lead the two-man event, with 1337.

Final standings in the five-man event:

- 1-Birk Bros. Brewing Co., Chicago, 3234—$1,000 and diamond medals.
- 2-Vogel's Windy City league, Forest Park, Ill., 3097—$900.
- 3-Soper Brothers, Cicero, Ill., 3096—$850.
- 4-Isaac Baker & Son, Erie, Pa., 3087—$800.
- 5-Colonial Paper Co., Steubenville, Ohio, 3049—$760.

Southern Illinois Firefighters In Annual Conclave

Mt. Vernon, Ill., April 19—(AP)—Firefighters from southern Illinois gathered here today for annual spring convention of the Egyptian Fire Fighters association. The convention's all day program included an address by State Fire Marshal Sherman V. Coultas. The spring ball will be held tonight.

Now is the time for all car owners to have their brakes checked. With the beginning of nice weather, more motorists will be on the road, and the driving speeds will go up. Consequently, there is a need for better brakes.

Hold Everything!

"Next on the program we have a real novelty number—Butch McGluck and his musical hacksaw!"

Dixon to Open Season Against Paw Paw Nine In Illinois Circuit

League Season To Begin May 15th; 8 Teams Enter

Dixon Knacks baseball team will open its season against Paw Paw, there, Sunday, May 15, in an Illinois State league game, Manager Bert Cummings announced today following a meeting of league managers at West Brooklyn Monday night attended by Manager Cummings and Coach Hi Emmert.

All eight teams are set ready to go. Sublette which had planned to enter the league has withdrawn and Ohio has taken its place. Sublette players have joined other teams for the summer. Ohio will have a strong team and are building a new baseball field and expect it to be one of the best in the league.

West Brooklyn as always in the past, will have a strong aggregation with George Webber as manager and veteran Lefty Knauer as their pitcher. Knauer was at one time with the New York Giants and Chicago White Sox.

Walton Has Same Team
Walton, which last year was champion of the loop, will start its season with the same line-up as that which won their pennant last year, Rochelle will enter a young, fast team and is expected to cause plenty of trouble to competition.

Ohio is also expected to be heard from this year as they also will have a strong team with plenty of old heads mixed with their youngsters.

Maytown led by the very popular Father Ultimaer, will again present its usual strong club with players from Sublette also in the roster. Mendota has a team of youngsters and would be tough competition in any minor league.

Paw Paw, Dixon's opening rival, has about the same outfit as in 1937 and Dixon's newly-formed nine can look forward to a real contest. Paw Paw's manager is Ole Eden. Dixon with sixty candidates trying out can present equal power to any of the other eight members.

Opening games are Ohio at Mendota, Maytown at Rochelle, Walton at West Brooklyn, Dixon at Paw Paw. Practice for the Dixon team will continue all week starting at 6 P. M. and Sunday afternoon starting at 1 P. M. All players must be present.

Faunce Surprises North-South Pro Court Followers

Pinehurst, N. C., April 19—(AP)—Johnny Faunce, young Californian, was a victor to be reckoned with today in the $1000 North and South pro tennis tournament as the result of his surprising victory over George Lott, veteran internationalist of Boston, Mass., in the opening round.

Faunce, gained confidence as the match progressed yesterday, and exhibited a masterful backhand. The scores were 2-6, 2-6, 8-6, 6-1, 6-0.

Bits of Gossip of Sports Picked Up By AP Writer

By SID FEDER
(Pinch-Hitting for Eddie Brietz)
New York, April 19—(AP)—Maybe the Cubs' brain trust is going to have a new worry on its hands if that old Dean-Carleton feud pops up again. . . . Couple of years ago, when the Cards traded Carleton to the Cubs, everybody said 'twas done because Diz didn't get along with Tex. . . . And, as Dick Freeman of the Houston Chronicle wires, "Need—ed—one peacemaker."

Today's the day the mortality rate on office boys' grandmothers jumps sky high. . . . And they'll all have to take the day off to see the old ladies—hit homers at their favorite ball parks. . . . Please, Mr. Weatherman, be a good fella again. . . . So Lefty Gomez, who didn't get the call to pitch the opener, has a chance to win the first one for the Yankees. . . . And Connie Mack has a chance to back up his hitting with something in the way of pitching—which the A's didn't show yesterday. . . . And 14 other clubs have a chance to catch up. . . . Yank can't get over the stuff young Jim Bagby showed in his first major league start for the Red Sox. . . .

Bronko Nagurski leaves Saturday for Honolulu and a three-week "tour." . . . Wonder if he could be persuaded to show in one bout in a grass skirt and a lei while he's there? . . . Incidentally, the Bronx denies signing for that reported Jimmy Lomas match in Los Angeles in June. . . . Minneapolis bid ten grand for Fritz Ostermueller, the Red Sox southpaw. . . . Freddie Haas, Jr., will get a civic award from New Orleans for winning a Walker Cup berth. . . . Bill Wood, Army's new coach, has 10 of last year's 11 first-stringers back as this year's "varsity." . . . They're going to try the new yellow baseball in the Columbia-Fordham game next week. . . .

Frederic H. Rahr, color engineer, says that color can be seen easier and quicker than the white ones, and so will lessen the chances of injuries to batters. . . . Rudy Huls-witt, released as a Brooklyn scout, has hooked up with the Bees in the same job. . . . Barney Ross says he'll be down to 142 for the Henry Armstrong scrap.

Two Glittering Figures Keeping Tongues Wagging

Chicago, April 19—(AP)—Two glittering figures kept the tongues of Chicago baseball fans wagging today. They were Jerome Herman Dean and the $185,000 Philip K. Wrigley owner of the Chicago Cubs paid for the rightshander.

Wrigley tossed baseball precedent into the wastebasket yesterday when he made public the sum that went to the St. Louis Cardinals with Pitchers Curt Davis and Clyde Shoun and Outfielder George "Tuck" Stainback Saturday so that the colorful Dizzy could be put into a Cubs uniform.

Only the reported $250,000 that went to Washington with Lynn Lary in 1934 to buy Joe Cronin for the Boston Red Sox tops the sum 'Ol Diz brought Sam Breadon and Branch Rickey.

Many of the grandstand managers seized upon Breadon's evaluation of Davis, Shoun and Stainback at $85,000 to marvel that 'Ol Diz was worth about $270,000 after his poorest year under the big top.

Dizzy Dean Already Asking Cub Pilots For Salary Raise

Los Angeles, April 19—(AP)—Dizzy Dean, the pitching beauty acquired by the Chicago Cubs, has asked for a raise, owner Phil K. Wrigley said today.

At his Catalina island home, Wrigley said: "I have instructed by assistants at Chicago to tell Dean that if he pitches winning ball this season he will be treated well by the management in regard to his compensation. However, we are taking over the contract just as he agreed when he signed up with the St. Louis Cardinals this year."

"Dean's demands for a new contract with the Cubs center upon several bonus clauses he made with the Cardinals. These matters I will straighten out with Dean when I arrive in Chicago later this month."

Dean's 1938 contract is reported to call for about $15,000, some $10,000 less than he received last season.

It Isn't "Luck" That Sells and Rents Your Neighbor's Property ...

HE KNOWS THAT ...

Everybody Reads The Want Ads—

April 17-23 NATIONAL Want Ad WEEK

Have you a spare room you're not using? The classified section can rent it for you. Have you real estate that's idle? The classified section can put it to work. Do you want to sell a house? Trade a farm? Rent your apartments? Put your property on a paying basis? Then, use the classified section, the "little want ads" with the great big pull!

The classified section of your daily paper has become the daily reading habit of the nation. It is a huge marketplace . . . active . . . responsive . . . swift in barter and trade. If you are not making constant use of the classified section to sell, rent, buy or trade, then you are overlooking an important opportunity. To remind you, the nation's leading newspapers are observing NATIONAL WANT AD WEEK . . . use the want ads for profit!

He was born in Germany, son of Abe and Mary Foss, and came to the United States with his parents when 5 years of age. For the past 23 years he had resided at Light-house. On February 28, 1906, he was married at White Rock Center to Martha Miller, who survives him. He is survived also by four children, Minnie and Earl at home, Mrs. Marie Gatz of Ashton and Mrs. Agnes Spratt of Franklin Grove, six brothers, Andrew of Chana, Samuel, Jacob and John of Rochelle, Abe of Kings and Aaron of Ashton, three sisters, Mrs. Sarah Van Briesen of Payne's Point, Mrs. Dinah Jacobs of Chana, and Mrs. Mary Wilfang, Byron, and four grandchildren. His parents and an infant son preceded him in death.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 at the home and at 1:45 at the Lighthouse Methodist church. Rev. Harold Olson officiating. Burial was made in White Rock Center cemetery.

SEATTLE MAYOR

IMPLACABLE FOE OF C. I. O., DIES

Seattle, April 19—(AP)—John P. Dore, 56-year-old mayor of Seattle during two turbulent terms, died last night less than two months before his second term expired.

Ill since February, he made only three speeches before the March primaries, when he was defeated for re-nomination.

One of Dore's speeches was cut off the air as being too "torrid." It was an attack on the CIO candidates—Lieut. Gov. Victor A. Meyers.

Meyers and Arthur B. Anglie, "good government" candidate, were nominated and Langlie was elected mayor, to take office in June.

Dore's two terms as mayor were as turbulent as his years as a criminal attorney, during which disbarment proceedings were brought against him three times.

Two years later he was elected mayor on his promise to "move the city out of the labor temple." A business-labor coalition defeated him in 1934.

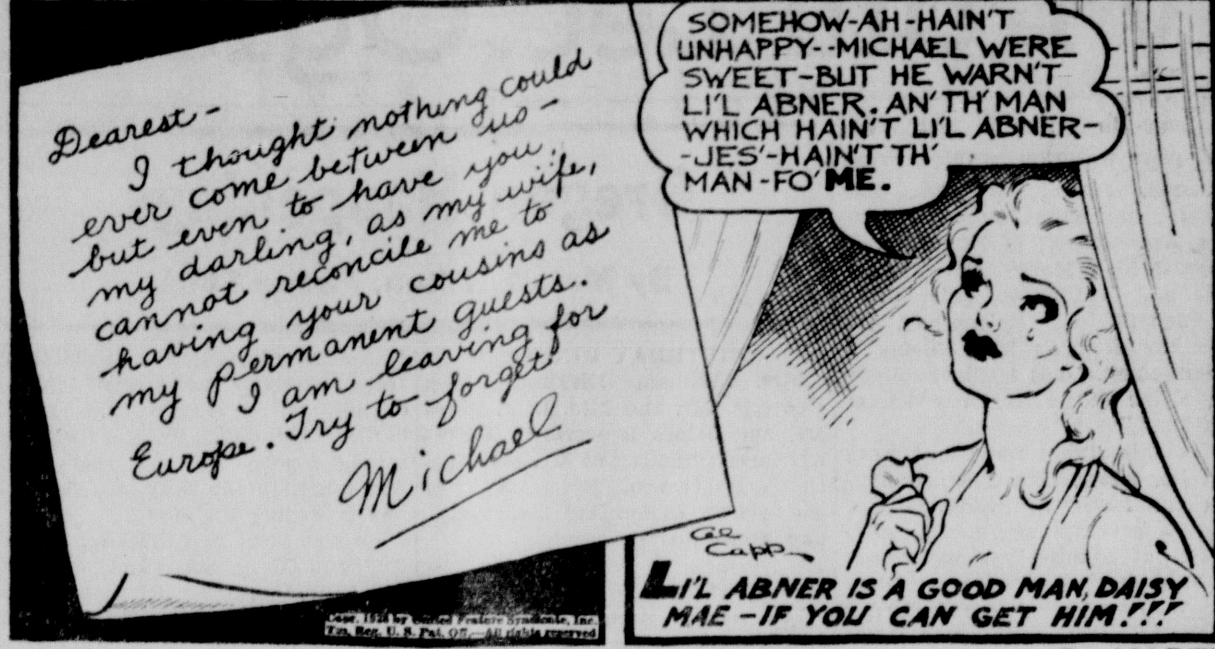

Dore reversed his 1932 platform and was elected as a labor candidate in 1936. During his last term he took an active part in labor jurisdictional fights, supporting teamster leader Dave Beck in his quarrels with CIO unions.

To build 5,000,000 automobiles requires: 459,000 tons of rubber; 20,000,000 feet of lumber; 145,500,000 feet of glass; and 18,000,000 gallons of paints and lacquers.

The Boxwood Barrier

By BLANCHE SMITH FERGUSON

The story so far: In love with dashing Gary Brent, Judith Goodloe marries Reuben Oliver for his money—only to discover he is bankrupt. Twins are born and Reuben loses a mental mining job. Through red-headed Cissy Rogers, who loves him, Reuben gets work in Gary's lumber camp and joyfully sends for Judith. Through an accident Judith's tent is not put up, and when she arrives Gary provides a cabin for her. Returning from the woods, Reuben finds that Judith has gone to a dance with Gary. Jealousy and black rage take possession of him.

Chapter 31
"Cruel To Do That"
Back at Plot 16 Reuben ripped off his necktie, rolled up his sleeves and fell to work as though pursued by a million demons. If he had labored all day he worked with frenzy now. He drove staples. Put up the ridge pole. Unaided, spread the canvas. Tied it down. Have to take out that stake—

The tent solid at last, Reuben set up the cots, screwed electric bulbs into sockets. Arranged the outside grill, then, still in the throes of senseless anger, went to Windmill Hill cabin and over the protests of Alf took blankets, bundles, his sleeping babies to his own roof-tree and put them to bed. Then he sat outside the tent and stared unseeing into the darkness. Every blast of the saxophones, every throb of the drums added to his rage. Judith was down there dancing—dancing with Gary. His mind went back to the day in Maryland he had asked her to marry him. She loved Gary—she had told him so that day. She still loved Gary—once he had been sure he was the better man!

The dance at the pavilion differed from any dance Judith had ever attended. It was as cosmopolitan as though it were on the edge of an American forest. There were the usual number of men in white flannel trousers and dark coats. The usual number of women in new or not too new gowns. There were girls carefully waved, powdered, rouged, with vivid lips and finger nails. Girls whose sly, frisks clung like skin to their figures. There were demure little school ma'ams in comfortable cottons or prim, serviceable silks. There were cow girls and boys from neighboring dude ranches. There were stars and extras from Hollywood. There were Swedes, Germans and French. There was a young Jap connected with the Embassy bent on enjoying America while seeing it.

The orchestra played a tango. Judith moved gracefully through it. She felt herself coming alive, as a wilted flower freshens after a brief summer shower. Just to dance again! It mattered not with whom. To feel young, free, untroubled. Yesterday, the day before, all the days—with their dull cold and searing heat, were forgotten. It was a fragrant September night. The music was good. She was not quite 23. She wanted this hour—just this hour to go on forever—

Arm in Arm
Not until the last note of the last dance had been played did Judith think of going home.

"I actually forgot my children," Judith sighed repentantly. "I needed this night, Gary. I feel reborn—as though I'm about to start life all over and make a better job of it." She felt courageous, ready to meet and conquer anything. Was it only this morning she had been discouraged, defeated?

"We'll ride tomorrow, Judy. Today really."

"Today?" agast, "What time is it?"

"About twenty of two."

"Mercy! I haven't been out after nine-thirty for years."

"Careful!"

"It's true—don't give me any credit for it though. There isn't any place to go in Fordney's Gulch except to movies so old the films are torn. They start at seven, so unless one stopped at Lacy's for ginger pop, one was home and in bed by nine-thirty. I don't like ginger pop."

They were walking arm in arm, sometimes losing the path in the darkness. Slipping and tripping over loosened stones and tangled undergrowth. Finding the path again. Laughing at their blundering—laughing at nothing.

Pine drenched with dew made the night spicy. Above their heads a star shot. An adventurous cottontail crossed the road ahead of them in panicky haste. The woods whispered.

"Judy," Gary said struck by a sudden thought, "Remember the night we rode to Reisterstown hunting watermelons?"

"And got caught in a terrible storm and you lost your pocket-book!"

"With $2 in it, tragedy!"

"Good old days, Gary!"

They did not speak again until they came out on the summit before the cabin.

"My Babies!"

"It's still here," Gary teased, "and the offspring probably snoring according to the best rules laid down for snorers."

"I'll feel happier when I see them. Don't laugh at me, Gary! Just wait until you have children of your own."

She took the steps quickly and tiptoed to the sleeping porch. The bunk beds were only faintly outlined in the blackness. Automatically Judith commenced to feel for disarranged coverings; to straighten them—

"I don't feel them! Switch on the light, Gary! I—the blood drained from her heart. "They're not here—My babies!"

"Don't be silly!" He turned from the empty beds. From her terrible face. "Alf has them inside."

"No I ain't," Alf shuffled to the porch. "Mist' Oliver done carried them babies down Piney Way."

Judith reached unsteadily for the porch rail. "Mr. Oliver?" Her lips were stiff. She could not throw off the terror that gripped her like a deadly malady.

Gary said: "Are you sure, Alf?"

"Ya-assah. Yaas, ma'am, Miss Judy! I tol' him Ise here to mind them children but he say that's all right and carried 'em away."

A few feet from where Judith stood was a chair. She could not reach it. The floor rose and fell about her like an angry sea.

Gary pushed the chair close. "Sit down, Judith." In his heart he was cursing Judith's husband. "Oliver shouldn't frighten you so."

"No. Cruel to do that." Her breath was coming more evenly now. The world was steady. "He didn't mean to frighten me." She was trying to be fair—"I thought they were kidnapped."

"Shall I get the car and drive you to your plot or shall I bring Oliver here?"

"I'll go, Gary." Her submission angered him further.

"Mist' Oliver done took all the bags but one." Alf informed them.

As fear subsided, anger—primitive, savage, possessed Judith. Reuben had done this thing! Had dared to take her children—her children! (Copyright, 1938, Blanche Smith Ferguson)

Tomorrow: The storm clouds burst.

Dixon Boy Enters American Legion Oratory Contest

William Slothower, Jr., will represent the Dixon high school in the first annual American Legion oratorical contest to be held Saturday, April 23 at the West Aurora high school in Aurora. Principal B. J. Frazer announced the selection of student Slothower today. The subject of the oration will be "The Constitution of the United States."

The district contest will be held at Aurora Saturday, beginning at 9:30 A. M., and the winner will later compete in the state contest to be held at Bloomington and from this group of contestants candidates will be selected through the cooperation of Dixon post, No. 12, American Legion.

ACCUSED YOUTH HEARS HIS PALS CONFIRM ATTACK

Charged With Beating Father's Partner To Death

Chicago, April 19.—(AP)—Charles Schmidt, Jr., 19, sat with his parents in Criminal court yesterday and heard two erstwhile pals tell a jury, trying him on a charge of manslaughter, how he fatally beat his father's business partner, Edward C. Richard, 59, in an ambush attack February 24.

The witnesses, Robert Trams, 16, and Jack Kroske, 17, testified they accompanied "Sonny" Schmidt to Richard's home after he told them:

"I'm going to see my father's partner. I'm going to take a poke at him because he called my father names."

The three boys had been friends for two years.

Schmidt, Sr. is president of a printing company and Richard was vice president.

Trams and Kroske were the principal witnesses for the state, which completed its case in a single day. Both youths testified they accompanied young Schmidt to Richard's home and were standing in the vestibule when the attack took place.

Defense Attorney Benedict J. Short said he would attempt to show that the boy acted in self-defense. "Sonny" will tell you Mr. Richard went to strike him," the lawyer said in his opening statement to the jury. "Sonny" put up his hand and struck Mr. Richard, who was off balance and who fell." The printing company executive died of a fractured skull.

Mrs. Anna Richard, the victim's widow, was one of the first witnesses to testify.
